Dennis Pimenta - Magician

Wednesday, October 18, 2023 at 1:00pm

Dennis Thomas is a full-time, professional NJ magician. For the past 25+ years. His show features magic, comedy, illusions, live animals and audience participation. One of the most talented magicians in NJ, Dennis has performed in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and New York areas. That's not to mention the many Birthday Party shows he's performed at various homes and restaurants. All of Dennis' shows are totally self-contained. From props to tables to music to curtains, he brings everything he'll need to deliver the coolest magic show in Massachusetts even laughs are included. Preregistration for this activity is required by calling our office at 508-336-8772.

Creative Wellness - A Collage Workshop

Monday, October 23, 2023 at 1:00pm

Sit back and enjoy hearing a variety of tips and techniques around the benefits of creativity for emotional wellness, as we kick off this engaging presentation. A hands-on exploration of image and word collaging to relax and recharge. Each attendee will create their own scrapbook style board as Maria shares well-being insight and levity. This program is targeted to the adult community who are interested in nurturing their wellbeing, enjoy discovery in creative outlets, as well as meeting up and connecting with others. This program is generously provided by a grant from the Seekonk Cultural Council. Preregistration for this activity is required by calling our office at 508-336-8772.

Davis Bates - Halloween Harvest Wednesday, October 25, 2023 at 11:30am

Davis has had a wonderful time sharing performances at well over 160 senior centers in Massachusetts over the last 43 years, with many repeat visits. It is joy for Davis to get folks singing together, and to share stories that trigger memories and connections to the past and the present. Songs are often accompanied by spoons, limberjack, rainstick, cabasa and guiro, a traditional indigenous instrument from Puerto Rico. Lunch will be chicken and broccoli alfredo. Lunch will be served after the performance. The lunch charge for residents is $5 and the lunch charge for non-residents is $7. All those who dress up will be entered into a raffle, and will be part of our costume contest. This program is generously provided by a grant from the Seekonk Cultural Council. Preregistration for this activity is required by calling our office at 508-336-8772

Medicare Open Enrollment

It's that time of year again! If you are enrolled in a Medicare Prescription Drug Plan or a Medicare Advantage Plan (HMO/ PPO), expect an information packet from your plan by the end of September. It is important to understand and save this information: it explains the changes in your plan for 2024. Premiums, deductibles, co-pays, and the drugs covered by your plan can change significantly! During Medicare Open Enrollment, you can adjust your plan for next year. Independent Medicare Insurance Counselors help you understand your plan changes as well as other options you may have. Open Enrollment runs from October 15 through December 7! Please note all clients will be required to fill out a Medicare pre-screening form to help us better serve you by looking up your current plan and comparing it to the future plans, if changes are necessary.

Let's Learn Together!
Tuesday, October 31, 2023 @ 2:00pm

Do you have a nagging question or new discovery about using your smartphone, tablet, laptop or Chromebook? Come share it with us so we can all learn from it! Librarian Michelle Gario will moderate this 60-minute session to help each other with technology. There is no set agenda; bring your device, share questions, and answers, favorite tips and tools. Bring your own tablet, phone, or laptop. Please make sure your device is fully charged. Contact our office to register by calling 508-336-8772.

Telephone Reassurance Program

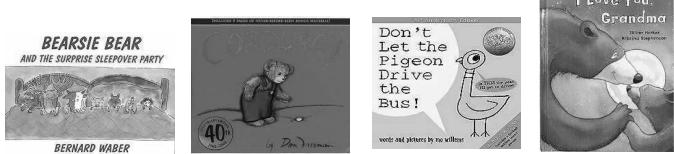

Seekonk Human Services has taken over the "R.U.O.K" Program that was provided by the Bristol County Sheriff's Office. Our office will make a telephone call to an individual's home at approximately the same time each day Monday through Friday (during our operating business hours only). This program is designed to connect people in need with ongoing, caring human contact and conversation. If we do not receive an answer, we will call back shortly after. If we do not receive an answer the second time, Public Safety will be called to check on the individual's status.

The Telephone Reassurance Program provides peace of mind for the individual and their loved ones. This program is designed for senior citizens, disabled persons and shut-ins living in Seekonk who may be at risk of loneliness, social isolation, illness or injury.

If you, or anyone you know is interested in this program, please call Nicole at Human Services at 508-336-8772.

Favorite Children's Book Contest

Vote for the favorite books of your children, grandchildren--multiple entries are welcome. The selection of titles is not limited to the ones mentioned on the flyer. Please cast your vote by December 31, 2023 Samuel Brown will purchase the most popular title and affix a bookplate to the book in honor of your center. The book will be donated to Read to Grow, an organization that promotes language skills and literacy for children. So cast your vote for the book you love most either reading to your children, your grandchildren, nieces and/or nephews. We will have a bucket for you to put your vote into. For more information visit us at Human Services!

Is Your Child Disabled? If so, an Inheritance from You Could Cost Them their Benefits

By: Brandon C. Walecka, Esq.

Walecka Law, P.C.

774-203-9003

Brandon@WaleckaLaw.com

Many times, a person on disability relies on certain governmental benefit programs such as Medicaid (known as MassHealth in Massachusetts) or Supplemental Security Income (SSI) for support and medical insurance. They may receive SNAP benefits (commonly known as food stamps), PACE (commonly known as fuel assistance), Section 8 housing, and other assistance programs. These programs often have strict income and asset eligibility requirements. A well-meaning inheritance could cause the person to lose important benefits, though proper planning can help avoid these consequences. In my practice, I often hear parents of a disabled child tell me that they plan to disinherit the disabled child and leave their estate to another well child who will, they expect, "look after" the disabled child. While the parents are well intentioned, this is often a recipe for disaster. The well child has no obligation of support for the disabled child and could, without any legal consequences, keep all of the inheritance. Parents often tell me "my child would never do that." But then I ask: what if your well child gets divorced, dies, becomes disabled themselves, or is in an accident?

In these situations, the money could then be lost through no fault of the well child. Are you willing to take this gamble when there is a safer solution? A far less risky option is to create a Special Needs Trust (SNT) for the benefit of the disabled child. In the parent's Will, the parent leaves the disabled child's share to the SNT rather than directly to the disabled child. The funds in a properly crafted SNT should not disqualify the disabled child from benefits. The funds are then available to help pay for services and "extras" not paid for by the programs. It creates a nest egg for the disabled child and should be protected from the claims of the Trustee's creditors. For example, Mom and Dad, in their Wills, leave $50,000 to a SNT created by them for the benefit of their child, Mary, who has Down Syndrome and is dependent on Medicaid/MassHealth for her health insurance. The Trust assets should not disqualify Mary and can be used to pay for things such as extra medical care not covered by Medicaid, a vacation, clothing, entertainment, or perhaps even a car! After Mary dies, any money remaining in the trust will be paid out to whomever Mom and Dad designated when they created the SNT.

A competent elder and special needs attorney can guide families through the difficult issues to create an estate plan that follows the family's wishes, cares for the disabled individual properly, and allows for continuation of government benefits. If you have a loved one who relies on government benefits for support, we encourage you to call a qualified attorney today.
